Talking of Congressional Matters in His Delirium.

His Physicians Hold Out Slight Hope of His Recovery.

Other Washington News-The Tariff De bate to Begin in the House This Week—The World's Fair

WASHINGTON, March 6 .- By the Associated Press.] Congressman Springer was worse today. There was a recurrence of the virulent form of erysipelas, which had once almost disappeared. Tonight the left side of his face is hadly swollen and the eye is nearly closed The periods of delirium are also more frequent and there is a slight tendency to stupor, a new phase in his condition but one which the physicians declare not particularly alarming.

The attending physicians held a consultation late tonight. At its conclusion D. Vincour of Springful III. sion Dr. Vincent of Springfield, Ill., Springer's family physician, made the following statement to the Associated Press: "There is no occasion for imme-diate alarm. Mr. Springer is worse, but diate alarm. Mr. Springer is worse, but that does not necessarily mean that a fatal result will ensue. A change might be expected in the run of this disease. Throughout yesterday the symptoms were favorable, but a change for the worse took place in the afternoon and continued during the night. While he slept considerably last night, it was broken, restless sleep. Today there is an increased development of erysipelas attended by delirium and coma. The aggravation of the erysipelas, while of course a matter of gravity, is not neccourse a matter of gravity, is not nec-essarily alarming. It only shows that there is not sufficient vitality to resist the ravages of the disease. It shows low vitality and lack of physical vigor. The delirium of course, is in-duced by a disturbed condition of the nerve centers. The stupor frequently makes its appearance after he has been talking in an aimless way about the business of the House or tariff bills. After he drops off into this state, however, it is easy to arouse him again when he will talk quite intelligently for awhile, but after the conversation ceases he lapses into that condition again. He is a very sick man, there is no doubt of that; but it is not immediately dangerous in my opinion. Even should the disease terminate fatally he would probably pass into a comatose state and remain for hours in that condition, and possibly for a day or two makes its appearance after he has been dition, and possibly for a day or two before death ensued."

SILVER AND TARIFF.

They will be the Leading Features in Congress This Week. WASHINGTON, March 6 .- [By the Associated Press.] Silver and tariff will be the leading features of Congressional procedure this week. The contest over free silver question will begin in the House tomorrow, when the anti-silver Democrats will oppose the adoption f the report of the Rules Committee for a specific period. The opponents of free coinage on the Democratic side have vigorously but vainly urged the Republican minority to join them in opposition to consideration of the bill and it is now conceded that the special order will most certainly be adopted. The anti-free coinage men say that it is but the beginning of the fight and they will use every possible means to defeat the passage of the bill itself. The the passage of the bill itself. The leaders of the House are anxious to secure speedy action on the appropria tion bills and have all these measures now pending passed before the discusnow pending passed before the discussion of the tariff is entered upon. For this reason Monday will not be devoted exclusively to the silver order. It is the present purpose to devote the greater part of the day to the Pension Appropriation Bill and Army Appropriation Bill in order to clear the decks for the tariff debate. Mr. McMillin of Tennesse will one the tariff discussions. for the tariff debate. Mr. McMillin of Tennessee will open the tariff discussion Tuesday, if no deviation is made from the programme on account of the Army Appropriation Bill. Other speakers will follow in rapid succession and the whole week will be occupied by tariff debates, except that Saturday afternoon will be devoted to eulogies on the late Representative Camble, of URVEYING, ARCHITECTURAL AND mechanical drawing, W.A. Burr instructor, at L.A. SCHOOL OF ART AND DESIGN, incorporated, cor. Spring and Third.

In the Senate the Pure Food Bill is the pending order. Mr. Call has given notice of his intention to address the Senate tomorrow on the subject of railroad interference in Forida elections, and Mr. Dolph wishes to deliver a speech on Friday on Senator Stanford's bill to provide a circulating medium. The long-expected debate on the reciprocity resolutions, which are now on the table, may begin some day this week. It is unlikely that any general appropriation bills will come before the Senate this week

Angora Goats to be Imported.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Representative Hermann of Oregon believes that it is possible the United States may seit is possible the United States may secure a partial revocation of the edict against the exportation of Angora goats, and has introduced a bill directing the Minister to Turkey to enter into negotiations for the purchase of 100 or 200 pure blood Angora goats. Oregon, California, Arizona and other parts of the United States, it is said, are well adapted to raising these animals and it is proposed to domesticate them in California first.

The World's Fair Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Representative Duborrow will tomorrow introduce in the House a bill providing for an additional appropriation for the World's Fair.

THE YOKOHAMA TRAGEDY. cedents of Lieut. Hetherington and

His Young Wife. DUBUQUE, March 6.- [By the Associated Press.] The San Francisco dispatch announcing the killing of a prominent citizen of Yokohama by Lieut Springer's Condition is Very Hetherington of the warship Marion created quite a sensation here. Hetherington is a native of Dubuque. He entered the Annapolis Naval Academy in 1874, graduated in 1878, and has been in active servicesever since. His wife was Miss Hughes of Wilmington, Del., and last summer visited the Lieu tenant's relatives here, where she im-pressed all by her beauty and charming manner. On leaving here she went im-mediately to join her husband.

Wilmington (Del.,) March 6.—The wife of Lieut. Hetherington, who killed Banker Robinson in Yokohama, is a native of this city and the oldest native of this city and the oldest daughter of Emlen Hughes, a leading citizen. Her maiden name was Bessie Hughes. She is but 20 years old. The couple were married December 10, 1889, the occurrence being the social event of the season. They have one child, 11 months old. Mrs. Hetherington was a reigning belle at the time of her marriage, and the scandal resulting in the tragedy has cast a gloom over the community.

A Kentucky Desperado Killed by His Brother.

The Victim a Slayer of Several Men Among Them One of His Brothers, Whose Death is Now Avenged

By Telegraph to The Times.

MT. VERNON (Ky..) March 6.—[By the Associated Press.] Yesterday Emmett Spodgrass, the town marshal, was sho and killed by his brother, Isaac Snodgrass. It was the result of Emmett hav ing killed his brother, "Squire" Snodgrass, two years ago. At that time Isaac sent word to Emmett that he had killed his favorite brother; and requested him not to speak to him. At Crab Orchard, some time last year, the two first met. Emmett drew a pistol and attempted to shoot Isaac, but by-standers interfered. Emmett then, apparently, settled down to lead a peaceful life, and was elected town marshal of Mt. Vernon. Isaac has been in town a number of times, but always avoided Emmett. The latter a numbe of times hunted him up, threatening to kill him.

Last week Isaac was in town. mett met him, and began his usual abuse, when Isaac told him to go away and not bother him, saving: killed one of our brothers; don't add another to the list. I don't want to be killed or kill any one."

Yesterday they met, but bloodshed was averted by the inteference of citizens. Isaac went home, armed himself with a double-barreled shotgun, and started to William Cash's, a neighbor. Emmett left with the intention of going to the same place. Cash's house is off the main road, and the brothers met at the main road, and the brothers met at the turning-off place. Issac says that when they met Emmett jerked out his pistol and he raised his gun. Emmett fired one shot, missing Isaac. The latter fired, bringing Emmett and his horse to the ground. Isaac fired again, killing Emmett.

Emmett Snodgrass in 1878 killed Isames Rethurum. Snodgrass was according to the short of the state of the short of James Bethurum. Snodgrass was acquitted for the killing and left the State, going to Joliet, Ill., where he killed a negro who failed to get off the end of Snodgrass' wagon when commanded.

Returning to this county his brother "Squire" built a house on his own land and allowed and cultivate the land free of charge They frequently quarreled. One day in 1890 Emmett went over to where "Squire" was living at his mother's, and when he met him both began firing "Squire" fell at the second shot, His mother rushed up and placed "Squire's" head upon her lap and Emmett re-marked: "Three out of four is pretty good markmanship, ain't it, mother?" Emmett was arrested, but was finally

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.-[By the Associated Press.] The Federated Trades' meeting this afternoon was a protracted one, the present alarming state of the labor situation being fully debated. It was finally decided that it would be well to temporarily raise the boycott and other hostilities carried on by sub-associations pending a confer-ence with the manufacturers, provided the latter would suspend their black lists and orders against the employment of union men.

The unions themselves will have to take this action and then the committee can withdraw the boycott. The delegates, while powerless to order this done, will advise particular unions of the necessity of so doing, and there is but little doubt that it will be agreed Immediately afterward the Boot and Shoemaker's White Labor League held a special meeting. The suggestions advanced by the Federated Trades in reference to the boycoits were discussed. The league refused to make known what it intended to do.

The Women's Shoefitters' Union met immediately on the adjournment of the league. It held a long session and also discussed the proposed temporary raising of the boycott and strike against Cahn, Nicklesburg & Co. Men Wounded in a Desperate Fight EUGENE (Or.,) March 6. - [By the Associated Press.] A desperate cutting affray, in which three persons were more or less injured, took place last evening on Fall Creek, about ten miles east of Eugene, Two brothers named Griffin have been living on a claim owned by Walker Young. They had been engaged in clearing, and had engaged one of the McBee boys to do some work. McBee was to work by the month. After working three days McBee gave up the job and claimed pay for it. This was refused by the Griffin boys, they holding that he should Griffin boys, they holding that he should work the month out or receive no pay whatever. This angered McBee and, with two of his brothers, he met the Griffin brothers last evening. Some lively words passed between them and they finally drew knives, all five being engaged. Squire Kane was called and started for the sheriff and a doctor. He states that at least three were badly wounded, one probably fatally. Sheriff Noland and Dr. Smiley started for the MINNEAPOLIS, March 6 .- [By the Associated Press.] An Associated Press representative this afternoon interriewed Sullivan on Mitchell's answer to his challenge. Sullivan said: "The answer is on a par with his entire attitude toward me. The assertion that he stood me off twice, extracting a forfeit both times, is untrue, as the records will prove. These men came here full of blow and bombast, professing to have plenty of money to back either or both to fight me, knowing my hands were tied, but on being called on by Charles Johnson of Brooklyn, who deposited $2500 with the New York Herald, the deposit remaining up nearly a year, they were found wanting. They hammered away at me with all sorts of challenges and bluffs for two years, and now that I have the opportunity and time to fight they weaken at my challenge, and offer all sorts of paltry, unmanly excuses. Mitchell says I want everything. I don't; I'm sincere.

In this I am justified. My season with Mr. Harrison ends June 4 and will with Mr. Harrison ends June 4 and will resume September 12. I must have an outside bet of proper dimensions to justify preparation for the contest. The Queensberry rules I regard as the only ones, as under them a man must fight, not run away. If Mitchell, Slavin, Corhett or the rest of them mean business, let them act, not talk and cry about my weight, which is a disadvantage and simple them are apprenticed to the state of them. about my weight, which is a disadvan-tage rather than an advantage and sim-ply stamps Mitchell's assertions as, ridiculous and laughable. My ultima-tum is made; my challenge, which is entirely my own, is out. If these men mean business they know where to find me, if not they had better cross the pond home and seek English pence rather than American dollars."

Duncan B. Harrison, referred to by Mitchell as the author of Sullivan's chal-lenge, says tonight that Sullivan himself was the author of the challenge, as can be proved beyond a doubt. Contin-uing he said: "Regarding Slavin's avowed willingness to fight it is peculiar that on Sullivan's arrival in San Francisco Slavin made a match with Jackson, a man he had professed to ignore, thus placing an obstacle in the way of meet-ing Sullivan. The truth of the whole matter is, Sullivan has called the bluff; they know it thoroughly and are offering all sorts of excuses to evade

A REMARKABLE PIGHT.

A Heavy-weight Knocked Out by a Lightweight.

Boise City (Idaho,) March 6.-[By Associated Press. Red Phillips, champion light-weight of Idaho, and C. A. Williams, a heavyweight of Pittsburgh, Pa., met on the turf near Boise City. Williams agreed to knock Phillips out in ten rounds. In the first round Phillips was knocked down and nearly out, but he rallied and fought savagely. Toward the end of the round Phillips landed a pivot blow on Williams' neck, knocking him down.
Williams came up groggy for the second round. Phillips rushed the fighting and gave him another drubbing. He landed another pivot blow and knocked him through the ropes. He did not revive for fifteen minutes and the fight was given to Phillips..

A Chance for Sullivan.

New Orleans, March 6.—The train leaving here tonight had aboard a letter addressed to John L. Sullivan containing the articles of agreement for a contest during the first week in Oc-tober with Mitchell, the Olympic Club agreeing to give the winner $25,000.

Corbett Heard From.
NEW YORK, March 6.—Saturday night at Philadelphia Corbett said that he would fight Sullivan, would put up $2500 forfeit on Monday morning, go into training at once and fight any time during July or August.

Typhus in New York City.
New York, March 6.—A case of typhus fever was discovered today in the crowded part of Bellevue Hospital. There have been eleven deaths from this disease up to date. The latest death was that of Catherine Gleason, who was one of the volunteer nurses to go into the plague-stricken camp of Hebrew immigrants who first brought contagion to these shores. Late this afternoon another case was discovered at the quarantine house on East quarantine house on East Twelfth street. Smallpox was discovered aboard the Hamburg liner Dania, which arrived to-day, and she was delayed at quaran-tine.

Singular Railway Accident.

TOPEKA (Kan.,) March 6.—A Santa

Fé passenger train last night left St. Joe at '8:30 o'clock on its way to To peka. At Meriden the heating apparatus in the smoker exploded with ter-rific force. Passengers in the car were hurled from their seats, and two, Almon Richards and Alexander Erick. son, both of this place, were so badly hurt that they afterward died of their injuries. Five others were painfully injured. The car was completely wrecked, and it is a wonder more live

Are still offering great inducements to settlers on the Alessandro tract OF 21,000 ACRES! Which lies only eight and one-half miles distance from Riverside on the west. Ten thousand acres are already sold; 5000 acres are being improved. Between 300 and 400 families are living there today, with churchs, schools, stores and hotels. The Alessandro Tract of 21,000 acres is equal to 35 square miles, and is 12 miles long by 3 to 4 miles in width. A most magnificent valley. With the finest soil in the world for orange or fruit culture; with the best water right in Southern California. No stone or brush on the land. People wonder at the great success and rapid growth of Alessandro until they are driven over the tract, then they are not surprised, and all exclaim: "The half has not been told."

Nature has truly been lavish with her gifts at Alessandro in regard to climate and location, and we predict a much more rapid growth during the next two years than in the past year and a half of its existence. ill offering great inducements to settlers on the Alessandro tract

At Least a Thousand Visitors Wil Arrive This Morning.

The San Diego and Ventura Exhibits Detail-Very Creditable Displays from Both of These

The citrus fair was open yesterday afternoon from 1 to 6 o'clock, during which time several hundred persons whose circumstances are such that they cannot spare the time during the week visited the exhibit. The officers of the fair were, on band as usual, as well as members of the Reception Committee, and all visitors were made welcome.

Today is San Bernardino county day, and indications are that there will be at least a thousand visitors in the city from points on the kite-shaped track alone. A telephone message was re-ceived from Riverside yesterday afternoon, saying that 500 tickets had been sold at that point alone. The delega-tion will be accompanied by the famous Knights of Pythias band of Riverside. numbering forty pieces, and will arrive on a special train over the kite-shaped track at 11 o'clock. They will be met at the depot by members of the Reception Committee and escorted to the pavilion. The delegation have had the pavilion. The delegation have had banners painted, setting forth what has been accomplished at the present and past fairs, and from present indications San Bernardino county will come very near owning the city today. Arrangements have been made for holding the train until after the evening exercises for the benefit of the visitors.

This evening the members of the Athletic Club and the Turnverein will give an exhibition, and forty young

Maj. Klokke was on hand yesterday making the visitors feel at home.

The Santa Barbara exhibit continnes to attract a great deal of attention. H. A. Puls of Riverside got in last night. Grant A. Miller will arrive today.

The orchestra from the Chinese theater will be the attraction tomorrow All of the exhibits look remarkably fresh, and the display is as attractive as on the opening day. Harry Thrail, who has charge of the Riverside exhibit, was busy yesterday showing his display to visitors.

SAN DIEGO AND VENTURA

The Very Creditable Displays of These Counties in Detail. San Diego county's display looms up prominently. Besides its fort, composed of fifty boxes of choice oranges and lemons, there are several large tables covered with citrus and other fruits and manufactured orchard prod-

The San Diego exhibit includes contributions from San Diego city, National City, El Cajon, Escondido and Paradise Valley. These sections are all near the coast, where most of San Diego's products are at present raised. As irrigation is extended, however, the "back country" is coming to the front, all that is needed to make that section all that is needed to make that section flourish being water.

Over the long table against the wall is a fine picture of San Diego harbor, with the inscription attached: "One of the Three Grand Views of the World." an extract from Charles Dudley Warner's book, "Our Italy." The praise is deserved, as traveled visitors will admit.

Jaffa and several other varieties, including the Parson Brown, Story hybrid and Homasasa. The Dancey Tangerine, grown by George W. Hale in Paradise Valley, deserves special mention. It is three times as large as the average Tangerine.

Oranges are being planted largely near the coast in San Diego county, princi-pally in the Chula Vista and Sweetwater districts. The oldest orchards are all near the coast. According to the latest report of the State Board of Horticulture the number of orange trees in San Diego county last year was: Bearing, 26,715; not bearing, 177,311. The shipments of oranges and lemons by rail from the county in the season 1890-91 were as follows, in boxes: Elsinore, 8; Escondido, 83; Fallbrook, 5; National City, 3960; Oceanside, 5; Perris, 22; San Diego, 18,754; Sorrento, 331; Temecula, 711; Vista, 32, making a total of 18,861 boxes, or 66 carloads.

The latter present the finest appearance, with a delicate kid-glove skin, but are not found to keep so well as other varieties. A month ago it was reported from San Diego that John S. Hill of East St. Louis, Ill., had purchased 640 acres of land near Ocean-side, which he would plant almost entirely to lemons. The number of lemon trees credited to the county by the trees credited to the county by the State Board of Horticulture last year was: Bearing, 7000; not bearing, was: Bea 155,934.

There are also limes, grape fruit and citrons among the citrus fruits.

J. Walmer shows a plate of muscat grapes kept by him in a cellar since

There is a bunch of bananas, ripe and ripening. Several sections of San Diego, in common with the rest of the coast line south of Point Concepcion, are practically free from frost, and bananas, as well as dates and pineapples, ripen. The latter fruit has been successfully raised in San Diego city, withstanding the cold spell of December last.

From the Julian country are shown apples—Red Baldwin, Newtown Pippin and others. This elevated section of the interior is principally known as a rich mining region, but it is also becoming celebrated for its apples. They get snow there in winter, and sufficient frost to give apples the flavor which they are apt to lack in more tropical climates. Some of the Julian apple-growers have made profits the past season that equal those of a Riverside orange orchard, and they don't have to hunt for a market, either, as people send all the way from San Diego city for the fruit. Cherries are also successfully grown in that section.

To ne of the most interesting displays on the Ventura table, to the general visitor, is that of Mrs. Theodosia B. Shepherd of San Buenaventura, who shows seventy varieties of cacti out of 125 varieties which she has on her grounds. Three varities of guava are shown:
The strawberry, lemon and "pear," the latter a very large fruit, as big as an average apple. The little strawberry guava is, however, considered the best. The guava does well around San Diego and is being largely planted. It is frequently set out between the rows of a young orchard, thus paying expenses, or more, while the orchard is coming into bearing. The disadvaritage of this plan is that the guava, being a very thirsty plant, needs more frequent irrigation than is good for most orchard trees. A very attractive exhibit of tempting guava jelly is made by L. E. tempting guava jelly is made by L. E. Allen & Co., who also show guava jam and orange marmalade.

Another exhibit of orange marmalade is made by Miss M. L. Webb, which deserves special mention, if only for the fact that it is put up in a very tasty manner, which is half the battle in in-troducing a new brand of food product. After people have tasted they will buy such product on its merit, but, until then, they must be tempted through the Frank A. Kimball, the veteran father product of many orchards as well as his own for that purpose.

A considerable display of raisins is made by F. E. Patterson, S. M. Marshall and the Escondido Land and Town Company. The Cajon Valley is only second to Fresno as a raisin producer. A box of imported raisins is shown in order that the points of contrast may be noted. While there is little lacking in quality in the home fruit there is much quality in the home fruit there is much yet to be learned in the line of artistic packing. Some of the raisins are sepa-rated from the stems, which is a mistake, as it suggests too much handling on the part of unknown persons who may or may not have been believers in the maxim that cleanliness is next to godliness. In Europe loose raisins sell at one-fourth the price of those on the stem, the finest fruit being sold in as near an approach to the natural bunch as possible.

There are two exhibits of dried figs from Escondido Valley. Those of W. M. D. Wooldridge come nearer in appearance to the imported article than is frequently seen. The California fig business is about where the raisin busi-ness stood fifteen years ago. It un-doubtedly has a great future.

R. H. Young, a delegate from San Diego county, is in charge of the exhibit. VENTURA COUNTY.

Ventura county shows this year for the first time at the citrus fair and makes a very creditable display, occupying a large table in the gallery on the west side. Moreover, Ventura county has received the fourth premium for the best display of citrus fruits.

This county, although a next neighbor of Los Angeles on the north, is less known to a majority of our people than any of the other six counties of Southern California. Until recently it was difficult of access, but now there is direct rail communication. Climatically, senically and in the range of its products, Ventura county is not a whit behind the most favored portions of Southern California, although its de-velopment has not, hitherto, kept pace with the more southern section. With the completion of the coast rallroad this county will undoubtedly take a great bound forward.

A large portion of Ventura county comes within the true citrus belt, much of it being comparatively frostless. The citrus industry has not yet attained great importance in the county, although a large area is now being although a large area is now being planted, especially in the Ojai, Bardsdale and Matillija districts. Ventura is credited with the following citrustrees for 1891: Orange, bearing 8644, not bearing, 54,769; lemon, bearing 7000, not bearing 155,934. The shipments of oranges and lemons from the county for the season 1890-91 were, in boxes: Camulos, 1187: which compare favorably with any in the hall. There are also five Malta Bloods from the same ranch, with skin almost as dark as the Rubys. From other groves are Mediterranean Sweets. a total of 19,475 boxes, or 68 carloads, besides which quantities were shipped by steamer.

The oranges exhibited comprise The oranges exhibited comprise navels, valencias, seedlings, tangerines, jaffas—which, though not much thought of elsewhere, are said to do well here. Wolfskill Seedlings, Malta and rubreds—the latter blood orange being remarkably fine—and Havana seedlings, a seedling budded with Havana buds. Among the lemons are Eureka, Lisbon Among the lemons are Eureka, Lisbon and Genoa, N. W. Blanchard of La Narajal ranch makes a fine exhibit of lemons, of which he has one of the largest orchards in the State. He has about 100 acres in citrus fruits, two-thirds of which are in full bearing. From fifteen acres of lemon trees he shipped last year 3000 boxes. Five varieties of almonds are shown, all raised from seed from an old tree on the Camulos ranch (the "Home of Ramona.") They comprise both soft and hard shell. Four carloads of almond trees were imported into the Ojai Val-ley last year. The almond is a delicate and somewhat capricious tree, which has led to its being much neglected. Where it succeeds it pays large profits. New varieties, originated in the State, are found to do better here than the imported almond.

Ventura claims to be the greatest Ventura claims to be the greatest English walnut producing county in the State. None are exhibited, because the crop was all sold.

Pickled olives from Senator Del Valle's Camulos ranch are shown, which are thoroughly ripe, and delicious in flavor, suggesting the thought that many of Southern California's cious in flavor, suggesting the thought that many of Southera California's horticultural products would be much improved if allowed to thoroughly ripen before being marketed. Many olives are grown in the county, although no oil is yet made.

It is not generally supposed that Taisins can be profitably made in the coast counties, yet Cyrus Kenney and F. M. Moore of Sespe have a display of fruit which leaves little to be desired in regard to plumpness, thinness of skin and sweetness, the three main points in a raisin. Mr. Kenney has over fifty acres in raisins, and it is said having failed to connect by rail with San Diego, is now trying to get connection with Los Angeles. It is a portion of San Diego's back country of which that city should be proud. There is still good Government land to be had around Julian, and with the opening of a railroad there would doubtless be a rush of land-seekers in that direction. Eastern dealers discovered, the quality of the seeds being superior to those produced on the Atlantic coast. Mrs. Shepherd consequently soon had orders for all she could supply, and has succeeded in building up a business which yields her an income of over $2000 a year, besides regaining her health. She has a whole block (two acres) in the city, in flowers, and several acres outside for the larger plants, such as palms. the larger plants, such as palms. Mrs. Shepherd's place is now one of the main attractions of Ventura. Many of the plants she supplies have form-erly been imported by Eastern dealers from Europe. Last season she shipped several thousand calla lily bulbs. She has originated many new varieties of in Important Decision in Which a Que tion of Long Standing is Settled-The Points in the Controversy.

The question as to the validity of taxsale deeds, which has been an open one for some time past, has at last been definitely passed upon by the Supreme Court of this State in a recent decision, the case in point being that of William Rollins (respondent) vs. John A. Wright (appellant,) an action to quiet title to certain lots at San Francisco, which plaintiff claimed under Tax Collector's

In this instance there were four tax deeds-three based on sales made in 1882 for the assessments made in 1881, for the fiscal year ending June 3Q, 1882, to A. F. Hinchman; the fourth on a sale made in 1880 for an assessment for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The deeds were read in evidence, against defendant's objections, which were as follows, so far as urged on this appeal:
First—The certificates of sale were not filed in the office of the County Re-Second—No notice of the application for the deeds, under section 3785 of the Political Code, was given. Third—The assessment and sale were not for any fiscal year.

Fourth—No title or claim of title was shown in A. F. Hinchman, to whom the property was assessed. It was further claimed, although such points were not made in the court be-low, (1) that defendant is a purchaser for value without notice, and (2) the sale was under a local statute which violated section 25, article IV, of the Constitution, and was therefore void.

The respondent contended that the tax deeds were conclusive upon all tax deeds were conclusive upon an those points.

Commissioner Temple, in his opinion filed therein, says:

Section 3785 of the Political Code provides that the deed shall recite, and that the recitals shall be primary (prima facts) evidence of their truth, eight enumerated facts:

facts:

1, the assessment: 2, equalization; 3, tax levy; 4, non-payment of tax; 5, the property was regularly sold; 6, has not been redeemed; 7, grantor was proper officer to execute deed; and 8, when sold to pay tax on personality, that owner of the property was liable for the tax.

The next section makes the deed "conclusive evidence of the regularity of all other proceedings from the assessment by the assessor inclusive up to the execution of the deed."

The first of the above sections has the

The first of the above sections has the effect as to matters required to be recited in the deed to shift the burden of proof, but leaves the owner of property free to establish by proof that such facts do not exist. As to other matters the deed is made

We see no valid objection to these provisions. If the property owner held property which is liable to taxation, which had been properly assessed, for a tax duly levied, which had not been paid, but allowed to become delinquent, and the property had been sold as re-quired by law and not redeemed, there is no hardship in providing that he shall not take advantage of mere irregulari-ties, which did not effect his substan-tial rights, to avoid the effect of his de-

These stringent provisions were made to enable the State to collect its revenues, and property owners owe the duy to the government to pay taxes when to the government to pay taxes when due, and are not deprived of any sub-stantial rights when they are limited in their defense to such matters as show that they do not justly owe the tax.

Smalls (98 U.S., 525) upon a similar point, and continuing, says:

If this position be correct the appellant is not in a position to make his first objection that the certificates were not filed by the Recorder; but waiving for the time this point, and looking into the evidence, it shows that they must be held to have been properly filed so far as that fact can affect the rights of the purchaser. It was the duty of the Tax Collector to present them to the Recorder for filing. This he did. The Recorder received them, but did not mark them filed, because no fees were paid him. It was a public duty for which no fees are provided. They must be deemed to have been filed. [Page vs. Rogers, 31 Cal., 307; Sec. 11.70, C. The second point that no notice was given

The second point that no notice was given The second point that he notice was given of the application for the deed under section 3785 of the Political Code, the defendant is, perhaps, not precluded from making. Whether he is or not need not be decided in this case, for we think no such notice was this case, for we think no such notice was necessary:

Section 3785 was amended so as to require notice in March, 1885. Before that no notice was required. Long prior to this amendment the purchaser's right to a deed had become absolute. When the law was amended the owner had no right to redeem, and the Legislature could not deprive the purchaser of his absolute right.
Third—It is claimed that the assessment was not made for any fiscal year. That point seems to be the result of pure carelessness.
Section 5, article 20, of the Constitution, provides that "the fiscal year shall comprovides that "the fiscal year shall com-

THE fatal weakness in the annual appeal for woman suffrage is the admitted fact that a majority of the sex do not want the ballot. It is pretty hard to persuade level-headed legislators that it is either right or wise to impose the burdens and responsibilities of the suffrage upon the reluctant majority in response to a clamorous minority. It will take a good deal of education to bring the average woman to a point where she wants the ballot and knows how to use it to advantage.

When we consider the influence of Tam-

When we consider the influence of Tammany on the public health, on the public charities and sanitation, on the schools and prisons, on the liquor saloons, brothels, and gambling-houses, it is hardly an extravagance to apply to it John Wesley's description of slavery as "the sum of all villainies."

In saying this, too, we take no account of its debauching influence on the youth of the city through the spectacle it presents of criminals and semi-criminals filling important public offices. We do not, in fact, recall anything calling so imperatively for the public reprobation by professional moralists since the Christian pulpit was first established as the workings of this Tammany organization. The poison of it penetrates more widely every year through all ranks of society. It makes the rich Tammany organization. The poisson of it penetrates more widely every year through all ranks of society. It makes the rich more and more careless about the performance of their political duties. It makes them loathe the city and flee from it in disgust and despair. It convinces the poor that the world is governed not by providence but by "pulls." It cows the bar into guilty silence in the presence of the most flagrant abuses. It surrounds every man who makes the smallest effort for honesty and efficiency in the management of municipal affairs with an atmosphere of ridicule, and though last, not least, it makes ignorance and evil repute seem the best equipment for public office.

THE recent . earthquake was much more severe on the Colorado Desert than it was hereabouts. A correspondent of the San Diegan, writing from Campo, says the shake commenced at 11:40 p. m. on the 23d ult. and lasted almost continuously for more than half an hour. The correspondent says: "Everything was shaking, and a dull, continuous roar, like the ocean surf, but louder and more regular, sounded in our ears, and both mountains-the one northeast and the other southeast of us-sent part of their rocky tops down close to us. Those mountains are over 7000 feet high, I should judge. The rocks sent down must have weighed hundreds of tons. One mountain to the southwest, about a mile off, which we saw next day, sen half its peaked top down half way till it met another peak to stop it. What it sent down made a flat face down its side over 1500 feet and a quarter mile wide. It must have weighed thousands of tons, as some of the rocks were igger than a city block. We counted seven shocks 'till next evening. had very heavy ones toward t ck next morning with more of the mountain tops toppling down. During all the next day it kept shaking heavily and commenced heavier next night and kept it going through the night, but no more of the mountains fell."

The Questions at Issue

In order to neutralize the possible effects of misrepresentation, and to present clearly to the public mind the position of THE TIMES, the following general propositions are here laid down:

(1.) THE TIMES has never advocated, and does not now advocate, any plan for handling the city's water supply which will be detrimental to the city or the citizens.

(2.) Inasmuch as the city has not the means to purchase the existing water works, and inasmuch as it is confessedly impracticable and inexpedient at this time for the people to vote bonds for that purpose, the current talk about the city's purchasing the works is necessarily idle. No proposition on the part of the Council to buy can be carried out in the absence of funds for that purpose.

(3.) All available municipal funds for public improvements and all that can be raised by taxation, or by the present issuance of bonds within the legal limitation, will be required for the completion of the sewer system, necessary street improvements, public school buildings and like general municipal improvements, thus making it impracticable, if not impossible, for the city to invest in a system of water works a any time in the near future.

(4.) The existing contract between the city and the City Water Company expires in a little over six years, when the city, by the terms of that contract, is compelled to purchase the works at an appraised valuation. The city and the people are therefore confronted with the necessity for saving up a fund for this object, or of devising an alternative plan for the handling of the water works after July, 1898. Meantime, the stubborn fact that the existing company has legal rights which cannot be overridden by the city with impunity must be looked squarely in the face, and remembered in any water deal which the city may go into.

(5.) If such a plan can be devised, which will be advantageous to the city and the people, and, at the same time just and acceptable to the owners of the existing works-a plan better than the purchase of the works by the citythen we favor that plan.

(6.) The Los Angeles City Water Company, controlling also, we believe, the other water works, is now willing to "let go," as we understand it, and dis pose of its works to either the city or a new private corporation, if price and terms can be agreed upon. The practical question, then, which now confronts the people and the city, is, can the city buy, and if not, will it approve the sale by the present company or companies to a new corporation, on condition that the existing water system shall be reorganized, the works and pipes extended to meet coin for $15. Of course the coin is the wants of every part of the city, worth its face value and the party of and water rates be agreed upon in advance which shall be the very lowest practicable consistent with justice and security to the investors; the city pro tecting itself by exacting a sufficient bond-not less than $100,000-from the proposed new corporation, requirthe Democratic machine in the United ing that it fulfill all obligations entered in default of which the company to forfeit its franchise and be subjected to such other penalties as the Council

> (7.) If the sellers deal with a new water corporation, and not with the city, the question of price and terms concerns the city less than it would were it the purchaser; and this is the more true should the contract with the new company be made to provide that the works be turned over to the city without cost at the end of a stipulated period of time. In other words, if the city and the present water company should be unable to agree on price and terms (which is altogether probable) then would it not be expedient for the city to interpose no objection to the sale to a new company, provided all requisite conditions and guarantees be exacted from such new company?

> (8.) If all the advantages, conditions and guarantees which we have outlined can be secured from the present company upon a reorganized basis, made through an amicable arrangement with the city, then we will favor that plan.

(9.) In any event we advocate the equalization of rates, so that the poor shall pay less for their water and the rich shall pay more, and the city pay for water used in street sprinkling and for fire protection. An honest and candid discussion of this water question in all its phases in the Council, in the community and in the press can hardly fail to bring out the most practicable result-such a result as all right-thinking citizens de-Whatever the result sought it must be attained by clean and correct methods, or it will be met by a storm of public indignation which will surely defeat its consummation.

The Gateway to Prosperity.

Petitions from citizens of Oregon. asking that Government aid be extended to the Nicaragua Canal, were presented in the Senate the other day by Senator Dolph, who supported the prayer of his constituency with an able speech. He said he regarded it as the most important public question that is now or has been for a quarter of a century before Congress and the American people. He was not sanguine, he said, as to the ability of the canal company to secure the construction and completion of the canal, and he wished to see the United States at the head of it, first, because he desired to have the canal speedily constructed; second, because he desired that when constructed it should be under the control of the United States; and, third, because he desired the canal to be capitalized only at its actual cost.

If the people of the Pacific Coast were fully awake to the importance of this enterprise and its direct bearing on their interests they would fairly besiege Congress with similar petitions. As matters now stand, there is more active interest in the enterprise east of the Rocky Mountains than here. Why this should be so we can hardly under stand. Without doubt, the completion of the Nicaragua Canal under American auspices would be a good thing for the whole country, but for the Pacific Coast particularly it would bring revolution and regeneration, Whatever we now have to complain of by reason of our comparative isolation from the rest of the country-our distance from sources of supply and markets for our producethe exactions of railroad monopoliesthe suppression of our ocean commerce -the lack of enterprising people and capital to develop the waste places of the State-all these would be reached at once by the inauguration of the Nicaragua Canal. Not that we would be a whit nearer the Eastern States in a geographical sense, but, commercially, we would move up a good deal. Nowadays distance is gauged mainly by cost of transportation between distant points. If the cost of overland carriage were materially reduced through the efficacy of free commerce on the seas, by a short and safe route without breaking bulk, the industries of the State would feel the impulse in every fiber. We should be taken from the position of a remote colony, hard to get at and expensive to reach, and set down, so to speak, next door to the great industrial strongholds of the country. With the superior advantages which we have to offer in the way of climate, productions and all the conditions of life, we would then claim our own and the State would progress as it has never done before. In his last annual message President Harrison recognized the Nicaragua Canal as "the most important subject now connected with the commercial growth and progress of the United States." His appeal to Congress had the merit of a practical business proposition, as follows: If this work is to be promoted by the usual financial methods, without the aid of usual financial methods, without the aid of this Government, the expenditures, in its interest-bearing securities and stock, will probably be twice the actual cost. This will necessitate higher toils and constitute a heavy and altogether needless burden upon our commerce and that of the world. Every dollar of the bonds and stock of the company should represent a dollar expended in the legitimate and economical prosecution of the work. This is only possible by giving to the bonds the guarantee of the United States Government. Such a guarantee would secure the ready sale at par of a 3 per cent. bond from time to time as the money was needed.

It is most ardently to be desired that the picayunish, do-nothing policy of the lower House, dominated by Holman and his associate objectors, will not defeat ome measure of assistance for this meritorious project.

We are not in favor of any looseointed subsidy scheme like that entered into by the Government with the Pacific railways, whereby the public reasury and credit are made a mere cat's-paw to rake out chestnuts for the projectors. We think that, if the Government furnishes the wherewith to build the canal, it should exercise a direct control over the enterprise, and control it, too, in the interests of the public against all combinations and inrigues. We have had enough of subsilized monopolies grown arrogant and dictatorial, and oppressing the people whom they were created and paid to serve. Let the Government build the Nicaragna Canal and control it.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, March 5 .- To the Editor of THE TIMES.] A consensus of public opinion in this city on the water question would how that 10 per cent. of the people are in avor of municipal ownership and control of the water supply: that 20 per cent. in-cluding those first mentioned, want better and more water on the hills and in the southwest portion of the city below Pico street; that 30 per cent want the rates lowered—regardless of cost of supplying the water, and that 40 per cent. have never class the matter any thought whatever. riven the matter any thought whatever There are three interested parties: First—The persons who want to contro

First—The persons who want to control the water supply.

Second—The people who now control it, and Third—The rate-payers who foot the bills.

The parties of the third part have had but little to do with the agitation, except those who live "on the hills" where the water has been inadequate in quantity and vile in quality. With them it has not been so much a question of price asquantity and quality. These people built houses out there with the expectation that some-body would come along and build works and get water from some source to supply their wants. Certain person were granted a franchise to meet the pectations of the people, but from want means, or want of good management, means, or want of good management, or both, they have made a lamentable failure. The consumption is so limited that any plant, built to/ supply that part of the city alone, could not earn interest on a fair cost and operating expenses. The essence of the complaint against the Citizens' Water Company narrowed itself, down to the fact that its stockholders would not put in money where they could get no returns, and the people were the sufferers.

On the other hand, the complaint against people were the sufferers.

On the other hand, the complaint against the City Water Company has been that it made too much money by occupying only the profitable field, and through the narrowness of its management would not extend its mains into territory granted by the rowness of its management would not extend its mains into territory granted by the Council to another corporation, and that in the southwest bortion of the city the mains are insufficient. The charge was also made that the rates charged were too high.

Those who/want to control the water supply, being the most active in shaping a policy for the/future, have decided upon anoutline plan for the public, reserving to themselves all knowledge of the practical operation of their scheme. The outline is about as follows:
First—That the only relief which can be obtained from existing conditions is the ownership by the city of the water supply system. Many intelligent people believe that if the city owned the water works that the water could be furnished to consumers for nothing, and that there would be a very large surplus of net earnings paid into the treasury each year: enough, perhaps, to pay the whole cost of city government; so that there would be neither taxes or water rates to pay.

Second—That no private corporation can ment, so that there would be neither taxes or water rates to pay.

Second—That no private corporation can be trusted to deal justly or lawfully by the people, even though subject to all the restrictions imposed by the present Constitution of the State, for the reason that dishonest men would be elected to the Council.

Third—That municipal ownership would insure the election of honest men to office, and the selection of capable men to manage the water works system just as we have always had in the fire, zanja and other departments, and as was the case when, under a Democratic city government, hundreds of acres of the lands of the city were given away to friends of Gouncilmen through fear they might be tempted to steal it if it remained the property of the city.

The history of municipal ownership of property in Los Angeles will not demonstrate that its control makes men more honest than they would otherwise be.

No practical plan has yet been brought forward by the Council looking to the solution of this question. Indeed the Council has never taken any action beyond, directing the City Engineer to prepare plans for a system of water works, regardless of existing works. The Council also asked the City Attorney if the existing contract with the City Water Company was valid and then appointed a special Committee on Water Supply. It is probable that when the committee makes a report its plans or plans will be presented and with them the opinion of the City Attorney on the validity of the 1868 contract, the power of the city to issue bonds to buy or build with, and in fact enough data to enable the public to know something of the question which is to be acted upon. Until that committee reports the Council can do nothing and probably nothing after it has reported. J. A.

ONLY A PAIR OF TROUSERS.

But They Have Effectually Broken Up One Happy Family.

Remarkable Experience of a Railro Engineer on His Unexpected Return from a Trip Up the

The gossips in railroad society circles are wagging their tongues at a downgrade rate of speed at the present time and all because one of the handsomest and most popular engineers found $190 brother engineer's pastaloons pocket the other night.

Not only did he boldly put his hand in his friend's pocket without his permission and take therefrom the aforesaid hard-earned cash, but he proceeded to spend it, and from all accounts he enoved himself to his heart's content.

The strange and startling feature of this story is the fact that no theft was committed and no jury in the world would convict the engineer who got away with the money of any crime. The engineer who went through his friend's pockets runs a freight engine, while the victim, if he may be desig-nated as such, handles the lever for a passenger train. Both men are in the employ of the Southern Pacific Com-pany and are very popular. They have been friends for a number

They have been friends for a number of years, but it is more than probable that they will be bitter enemies from now on. The freight engineer is the possessor of a beautiful wife to whom he was married a few years ago. The passenger man is single, but he is one of the most popular men in the railroad quarter of the city, especially among the fair sex. the fair sex.

A few months ago the freight man built a $4000 residence on Buena Vista street, where he and his little wife lived most happily to all appearances, and the husband believed himself the

and the husband believed himself the sole proprietor of his wife's heart up to a few nights ago, when he made the most singular discovery on record.

On the night in question hubby started for Mojave with an extra engine, and it was supposed that he would not return for several days, but he changed his mind, or his superintendent did before he had gone far on his lonely journey, and he was the days. his lonely journey, and be had gone far on engine over to another, man and he his ionery journey, and is a marked his engine over to another, than and he started at once for home.

He reached his cottage on Buena Vista street late at night and was not at all surprised to find the house dark and as still as death. Thinking his wife was sleeping her beauty sleep, as all pretty women should do at that hour of the night, he opened the door as quietly as possible with his latchkey and made his way to his wife's bedroom as silently as possible. Not only that, but he was so fearful of awaking her that he did not light the gas, but undressed in the dark and crept into bed. He had hardly settled himself down for a sound sleep when his better-half awakened him and informed him in tones of agony that she was very sick and must have some medicine at once. She was very sorry to disturb him when she fully realized how tired he was, but she fully realized how tired he was, but she feared she was about to die, etc.

Like the good husband that he is, he bounded out of bed and dressed himself as quickly as possible and rushed out of to the drug the house. On the way to the drug store he noticed that his pantaloons were too long for him, that he had dressed too hurriedly and did not hitch them up properly he not stop to investigate, but hurried did as fast as possible.

When he entered the store he was surprised to hear his druggist friend remark: "Hellow, old man. what's the matter with your pants? they don't fit

He then looked down and was thunderstruck to find that he had put on some other man's trousers. True to man nature he shoved both hands in the pockets, and on drawing them out his astonishment doubled to nfold, for in his right hand he grasped a $5 piece and 83 or $4 in silver, and in the other he

$3 or $4 in silver, and in the other he held a wad of greenback amounting to $185, and a bank book.

A peep into the bank book revealed the name of the owner of the pantaloons, and his astonishment took another leap forward when he read the name of his friend, the passenger engi-neer. Instead of borrowing a sixshooter and rushing back to his home as most men would have done under similar circumstances, he turned to his friend, the druggist, and ejaculated: "Jim, we will take in the town and enjoy ourselves tonight."

The druggist had watched the performance with deep interest, and, strange as it may seem, both of them forgot all about the sick wife, who was waiting patiently for the medicine at home. Where the two went is a myshome. Where the two went is a mys-tery, but the next heard of the engineer he was on his way to San Pernando with his extra engine, and from all accounts he has not yet taken his sick wife her medicine.

Mat the passenger engineer did or what he thought when he discovered that his friend had exchanged pantaloons with him is not recorded, but it is a well-known fact that he has no a well-known fact that he has not served a demand for the trousers and money and he never will.

That the pretty wife was worried beyond measure there is not the slightest doubt, but she is a woman of courage and she will do all in her power to bring her husband to her side again. In fact, she has gone to San Fernando, but the result of the conference, if they have met, has not yet been made public.

A Great Record.

Should Harrison be renominated and reflected, as now seems highly probable, the White House will have been occupied by a son of Ohio for twenty one out of the twenty-eight years beginning with the election of Gen. Grant in 1868. Even Virginia, the "mother of Presidents," didn't equalithis record. And then there is Gov. McKinley's term, beginning when Harrison's ends—but we forbear."

AT THE CHURCHES.

A Powerful Sermon by Rev. Mr. Collins.

Scathing Arraignment of Saloons and Saloon-keepers.

An Enemy of Law, Order and the De cency of Society.

The Usual Sunday Services at the Vario Churches-Lenten Lecture at St. John's-Reception to Bishop Fowler.

Rev. J. H. Collins, pastor of the Third Congregational Church on Railroad street, preached a powerful sermon last night from the text: "For wide is the gate and broad is the way which leads to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat," Matthew vii:13. The pastor dwelt at some length upon the tendency to tear down the very banners which distinguish the straight and narrow way to heaven from the broad way with the wide gate which opens into hell. Among other things he said:

he said:

To my mind the devil has a close patent on much of the so-called liberalism of today. The way into his kingdom is a broad one, and it is thronged with people. Its gates, though wide, are crowded.

There are many lanes, byways and alleys which open into this broad way, but no sane person will deny that the route by which a great many of these hell-bound travelers enter this broad way to crowd the gates of hell is that of the saloon. Every saloon has a door opening at the very gate of hell. The presence of his Satanic Majesty pervades its very atmosphere. Its language is hellish in its coarseness, vulgar-saloon has a door opening at the very gate of hell. The presence of his Satanic Majesty pervades its very atmosphere. Its language is hellish in its coarseness, vulgarity, obscenity and profanity. Its whole tendency is to degrade, besmear and tear down human life.

Its motto is: "No respecter of persons." Hell in all its horror is being made more horrible tonight by the frightful groans and awful thirstings of the countless millions of saloon victims. Its never-ceasing products are thugs, gambiers, bummers, cut-throats, seducers and murderers. In the very nature of its existence it is an enemy to the home. It wraps the dark mantle of disgrace about the aged parents with one hand while with the other it crowds, their offspring against the gates of hell. As a channel opening at the very hearthstone of the American home and leading directly downward to hell itself there is none that can compare with the saloon of directly downward to hell itself there is none that can compare with the saloon o today. As the arch enemy of the home "its right there is none to dispute." It is an established fact that that which is an enemy to the home is of necessity an enemy to the law, order and decency of enemy to the law, order and decency of society. The very atmosphere of the saloon invites idleness, encourages vagrancy, engenders quarrels, suggests larceny and creates viciouness in countless forms. It is the resort of the man who neglects his home, wife and children. It is the headquarters of confidence men and swindlers in general; and it is the aknowledged rendezvous of the thief, the burglar and the pickpocket. Upon the principle that "like begets like" these characters will soon induce others to become like themselves, and the saloon is the field of their operations; the casual frebecome like themselves, and the saloon is the field of their operations; the casual fre-quenter becomes the material upon which they operate. So you will readily see that the saloon becomes one passage by which an innumerable host are turned into the broad way at the end of which are the gates of hell.

That branch of the saloon work, so favorably known as "rushing the growler," was severely condemned. growler, Said the speaker:

It strikes me that the woman who so far forgets herself as to "shoot the can" or allow her child to do so is crowding hard upon the gates of hell.

The action of the County Supervisor n granting a license for a saloon a the Soldiers' Home at Santa Monica was branded as "an offense against patriotism, and a blotch, yea, a foul blotch, upon the honor of our country in the treatment of men who saved i n its hour of peril." The speaker coninued:

How honorable voters can forgive this back-boneless set of Supervisors is more than I can understand. They have not, in my estimation, stiffness of character enough my estimation, stiffness or character enough to make good moprags or dish.cioths. When they are in office we are in disgrace, decency and honor are at a discount, trickery alone is at a premium, and through their cowardly action the, saloons upon our country roads, and in little settlements of course hours are the district of the saloons upon the course of the saloons upon the course of the saloons upon the course of the saloons upon the saloon uiet homes, are to vie with the dives and oints of the city in crowding the gates of on the city in crowding the gates of hell with immortal souls.

The most pitiful, wretched, woe-begone travelers who may be found crowding these awful gates are the direct fruitage of the saloon. The man whose home is a hovel, whose wife is a slave, whose children are gutter-snipes, whose health has been rulined, whose hablts are filthy, whose manners are whose habits are filthy, whose manners are corrupt and whose future is but one dark, endless night of fearful torture, as he crowds the gates of eternal despair would make a picture terrible to behold. And, yet, every saloon from its very nature must just such fruitage

Yesterday afternoon Rev. B. W. R Tayler delivered the first of his series of Lenten lectures. His subject "Our Church." The lecture was controversial, but purely historical, the progress of the Episcopal Church being traced from the earliest times down to the present. Three successive waves of thought have passed over this church of thought have passed over this church within the last two centuries. The first was the evangelical movement, of which personal piety was the keynote and watchword. John Wesley was the most conspicuous product of this movement, and a grand movement it was. The spiritual life of the nation needed defining, and the evangelical party set to work, and successfully, to define it. This having been accomplished, the second movement took place, which his tory records as the "Oxford movement." tory records as the Church order and church authority." The sacraments were taught to be the mystic communication of Christ to man, while a proper ritual was a real part of the teaching

It was a great deal deeper than that It was a great deal deeper than that, the reality of the sacramental life being the real crux. The third movement is one which is known as the broad church movement. The late Dean Stanley, Canon Farrar, Phillips Brooks and other well-known names may be classed as the leaders of this movement. The aims of this school are not in any way antagonistic to the other schools. It rather seeks to include them. As yet it can hardly be said to have a definite platform; perhaps it needs none. It has yet to win its spurs among the masses of churchmen. It, as has been alleged, scholarship and progress be its watchwords, and scholarship and progress be employed to further the salvation of man, it is bound to succeed. But if its scholarship be that which accepts the theories of Graf, Kuenen, Wellhausen and other German rationalists, and other well-known names may be sen and other German rationalists, while it rejects the inspiration of God's word, and the testimony of Jesus Christ to the truth of that inspiration, then the church, by her teaching and formularies, distinctly repudiates it. But if the destinies of this movement be in the hands of such men as the late Bishor Lightfoot, Charles Gore and Wescott, Lightfoot, Charles Gore and Wescott, it will probably win. For whatever scior nature, or the human reason, or that most perfect of all revelation, the Holy Bible, have to teach us about God, devout men will readily accept. If this movement will bring together and consecrate to the service of God and man all the best thought, the best discoveries, the best genius, and the best aims of the age, it will be the hope of the future. We must ever remember that God is ever guiding the destinies of His church and people, and "the Lord sitteth above the waterflood, and the Lord remaineth a king forever."

TEMPLE STREET CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Rev. A. C. Smither preached to large congregations yesterday. The subject of his evening discourse was "The Unitarian Conception of Christ." He argued that Christ lies at the very basis of our religion; upon Him depend all the claims of Christianity, for Christianity is nothing but the embodiment of the grand truths claimed by Jesus. There are two great divisions of His followers, Unitarians and Trinitarians. The Trinitarians accept Him as one of the persons of the Godhead; the Unitarians, as a body, being creedless, seem to have no clearer divine conception of Christ than that He is not a part of the Godhead—one of the persons of the Deity. That Jesus was the Son of God, as the orthodox religion claims Him to be, we are convinced from several be, we are convinced from several points of view; first, prophesy; second. Christ's own claims; third, testimony of the inspired men concerning Him. In the prophets He is called "Fellow of God" and "Equal with God." Isaiah prophesies of Him under the name of the "Wonderful," "Counselor" "The Mighty God" the "Counselor," "The Mighty God," the "Everlasting Father." All of these are attributes of the Deity, hence Christ nust be the Deity.

Jesus claimed to be the Son of God in a peculiar sense, distinct from and above all others. He claimed to be able to forgive sins; He claimed all authority in heaven and upon earth; He claimed existence with God before the worlds were; He claimed to be the Judge of the universe, to be the Medibetween God and man, and to be equal with the Father. If language has any meaning these claims mean that Christ was the Deity. Christ worked miracles to sustain these claims. He was either what He claimed to be or He was the greatest impostor that ever lived. God would not work miracles through an impostor.

The testimony of inspired men is another evidence of His divinity. John says that the word was with God, and the word was God and that He was the creator of all things and that he was the life. Peter says that God exalted Him (Christ) and made Him a Prince and a Sayior. Paul says that Christ was in the form of God and counted it not a prize to be on an equality with God. If the Bible is the inspired word of God, then Christ is what the ortho-dox world believes; if the Bible is not the word of God, then Christianity has no substantial basis. We have no right to receive part of the Bible as divine We have no and part as not divine; to be able to decide which was divine and which was not would require inspiration on the part of the judge.

There was intense interest throughout the discourse.

BELLEVUE AVENUE MÉTHODIST CHURCH. Rev. W. E. Shepard preached the morning sermon, taking his text from Hebrews ii:9: "But we see Jesus."

As in astronomy the sun is the center around which our earth and various planets revolve, in the Bible Christ is point, and around which revolve every-thing blessed. When the vail of the Temple was rent in twain it signified that all may now enter into the holy place where God is; not through the high priest, but by Christ, who is our Great High Priest.

When the Israelites in the wilderness were bitten by the serpents Moses was were bitten by the serpents Moses wascommanded to hold up a brazen serpent in sight of all, and whosoever looked on it was saved from death. "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness even so must Christ be lifted up that we may look to Him and obtain eternal life."

We should lift up Christ in the manmer that we live being like him that ner that we live, being like him, that others may be led to believe on Him. In Christ we each find something just suited to each of our needs. He does not give us what some one else may have. but He knows our natures and gives us Christ says "Lo, I am with you alway. In Christ we see the image of God. He was holy, undefiled and sinless, yet was we shall see Him face to face. For all He is divine; those who love Him and obey Him will dwell with Him forever, and how glad we all ought to be for this privilege and to know that in Heaven we shall be like Him. "But we see

The sermon was clear and instructive. Children's services were held at 3 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30, Rev. Mr. Ledford preaching. IMMANUEL CHURCH.

Yesterday morning Dr. Chichester preached a strong and timely sermon from the text, "The word of God which liveth and abideth forever." The doctor began by stating that the present storm center of theological controversy is the word of God. The first question that confronts us is the question of the Bible's inspiration. What do we mean Bible's inspiration. What do we mean by inspiration? "Every scripture is given by inspiration of God"—more literally "is God—breathed." Not only the sacred writers themselves, but their writings, are all alive with the breath but seems to have been specially coined by the apostle to describe that divine influence by which the sacred writers were qualified to infallibly communicate divine truth. The doctor stated that the present

The doctor stated that the present prevalent view of inspiration was to be found midway between the latitudinarian and mechanical extremes. The view now commonly accepted by Christian people is that owhile the power that produces inspiration is divine, the action is human. Room is thus left for the exercise of each writer's presonality so human. Room is thus left for the exer-cise of each writer's personality, so that while God told each writer what to say they each said it in their own way!
The Bible is therefore a thoroughly human book and at the same time it is supremely divine. But absolute divinity attaches not to the Bible as we now have it, but to its original manuscripts.

The subject thus opened up was the Bible's vitality and its indestructibility. It is a great mistake to regard the Bible as a mere dead book. It is something better than a book, even the "word of better than a book, even the "word of God which liveth." Beza said that the Bible is an anvil that has worn out many a hammer, and the fact that it still lives in spite of all that has been done to destroy it is evidence of its di-vine life. The persistence of the book proves that God is in it just as mani-festly as He was in the barning bush of morning from the text in John xiv:9, Jesus saith unto him, have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip?" the topic sug-gested being that the disciples them-selves did not understand Christ. The inquiry prompted by that supposition, which would be, "How can we believe in Christ through the words of those who misunderstood Him," was answered in a brilliant argument, in which the speaker displayed all his well-known powers of logic coupled with that wealth of illustration drawn from every imaginable source and told in the direct and convincing manner that has gone so far to insure his popularity. The idea that the different denominations represent severally one of the many sides of Christ's character was preceded by the statement that that church is unpardonably impertment and egotistic that says it knows all of .Christ.

Dr. Thomson did not fail to follow his usual custom of giving his arguments and illustrations a nineteenth century application, bringing them down to the practical necessities of every-day peo-ple who have to live every-day lives, and his remarks were frequently echoed by a soft, but distinct, murmur of ap-plause. The audience was the largest yet gathered within the walls of the church, every available inch of room being utilized with extra chairs and standing room occupied also. Dr. Thomson's sermon for next Sun-

Dr. Thomson's sermon for next Sunday morning was announced as "St. Paul's Thorn in the Flesh."

C. P. Dorland has been elected president of the Sunday Evening Guild, which meets in the church every Sunday evening. The church trustees hold their monthly meeting tonight. FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CRUBCH

There was more than the usual atendance at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. Rev. Dr. Stewart preached a very interesting sermon from the text: "So then death worketh in us but life in you," II Controlled in 18 of the controlled rinthians iv:12.

Dr. Stewart's sermon was mainly in support of the doctrine and law of vicarious atonement, which he brought to bear upon all forms of life, making self-sacrifice a universal law—one thing constantly perishing that another might live. Through death life per-petuates itself. The cost to sustain life is enormous; man's bodily sustenance required a sacrifice of both animal and vegetable life. So in all kinds of lifevegetable life. So in all kinds of lifelife is forever feeding on death. Parents are living their lives for their children. Public life must be of a vicarious nature, else it would fall to a low degree. It is not only those we call martyrs or heroes who suffer for the many, but there are those unknown, yet heroic, who are today living their lives and giving themselves for others.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH. Rev. Dr. W. B. Stradley's sermon yesterday morning was from First John, first chapter and seventh verse: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin."

There are some people so dainty they cannot endure the thought of a blood sacrifice; others who hold that God is too merciful and loving to mankind to require this kind of a sacrifice. They would have Calvary but a myth; but what is a Calvary without blood—a Calvary without a Christ? They seem to believe that God can violate the choice of men by the force of His infuite love and shut them up in heaven. This is not strained; it is modern, so called, theology. They relegate all this to past ages. Many hold on to inefficient instrumentalities because of their regard for age. This is utterly refuted by the universal idea of sin and the like universal idea of blood atonement. The shedding of blood was not to satisfy divine wrath, but to satisfy infinite law and magnify truth, and justice required an infinite sacrifice.

TRAVELED ON HIS FACE.

"Beat's" Boast was Proved in a Way That Astonished Him. [Chicago Herald.]
"You've forgotten to pay, sir; you owe 60 cents," said an attendant in a State street hotel to a well-dressed man who was leaving the billiard-room with-out paying for the games he had lost. With the fumes of one too many glasses dimming his brain, the fellow turned slowiy and exclaimed:

"Pay! What'll I pay?"
"Money, boss. That's what we need here."

"Well, I don't have to pay. See? I travel on my face."
The man with whom he had been playing was also tipsy, but not so much as to forget that paying is the sequel to playing.

"If you don't pay your bill," said he,

"If you don't pay your bill," said he, "I will."

"No, you won't," answered the other, who was a large and well-built chap. "I'm three times seven, I am. Come on," and he caught his friend by the coat-collar and dragged him along. The attendant ran to the house officer and told him what had occurred. When the festive billiardist reached the rotunda he found the official, accompanied by two stalwart porters, waiting for him. They took him between them and started for the street door, which was over 100 feet away. The big fellow gazed at them stupidly a moment as they pushed him along, and then said: "What are you fellows doing?"

"Keep quiet, now," answered the officer. "We're going to put you out doors, and if you don't keep your mouth shut you'll be locked up."

He gathered himself together, and, with a mighty effort, threw them off, they were instantly on him again.

"Do you take me for a thief?" he tasped, as they choked him down.

"No; only a dead beat," was the anjwer.

"Now, men, swing him."

"Now, men, swing him."

The big doors were opened wide and held back, and the two broad-shouldered porters got a good hold on his trousers and sent him flying into the street. He traveled on his face.

EMIL ROSENTHAL

Something About the Man and His Meth-ods—His Rise and Fall, San Bernardino, March 3.—[Corre-spondence of The Times.] In the early days of Riverside, before the navel orange was discovered, and before Garcelon invented the lemon, the most prominent citizen of the hamlet was Emil Rosenthal. He owned a store, had some money which he loaned at exorbitant interest on gilt-edged security, and was in every respect the king bee of the colony. Time passed, and Riverside, by the magical touch of water, sprung into full bloom as an example of what thrift will do in this glorious climate of California.

For a while "Rosy" profited by the development of the town, and made money, although, even in those days, many of the newcomers got "onto" him, and he did not find himself on a high plane above other people. His celon invented the lemon, the most high plane above other people. His prominence was beginning to be prominence was beginning to be shared.

"Rosy" had always a penchant for the seductive game of draw poker, but during his day of prosperity he kept his desire for gambling pretty well in check; at any rate, there was not much talk about it. There never is much condemnation of a man who always wins at poker. It is the fellow who loses who is held up as an example of frightful depravity. The rush of newcomers to Riverside marked the advent of several "fly" poker players, and "Rosy" began to have the at first novel and soon alarmingly frequent experience of getting up from the table a loser. He devoted more time to poker than to business, and soon found that poker was his sole business. His store was gone, his corner lots had been sold and his riches had vanished into the pockets of more successful players.

"Rosy" was also something of a poli-vanished into the pockets of more successful players.

"Rosy" was also something of a politician, attending the conventions of his party and "whooping it up" in true Bowery boy style. He also dabbled in "journalism," emptying his overcharged think-tank into the columns of a local weekly in Riverside. He also aspired to office in the Republican party, but was treated with cold, cold neglect by the people.

Some months ago "Rosy" went to Los Angeles and indulged in a money game with some of the accomplished robbers of the sporting world in that city. He soon found himself broke and put up a personal check for $100 to city. He soon found himself broke and put up a personal check for $100 to pay for "chips" advanced by the banker. When this check was sent over to Riverside for collection it came back indorsed "No funds." The sports promptly threatened to have "Rosy" arrested, but he made a pull on his friends, paid the money and got out of the scrape.

but converted it to the use of him the said Rosenthal.

"Rosy" was promptly arrested on January 1 and brought before Judge Knox, who admitted him to bail in the sum of $1000, with A. B. Paris and C. C. Wainwright as sureties. The case was continued until January 29, and on that day "Rosy" and his attorney and the District Attorney appeared in court and asked that the case against Emil Rosenthal be dismissed "on the ground that it was brought under a misapprehension." The accommodating justice consented to this and "Rosy" walked out a free man. As a matter of fact the sum of $770.90, being the amount of the embezzlement, was collected in small sums from the people of Riverside, who had known Rosenthal in other days and who pitied him, even though he had fallen so low. It is questionable, however, if the District Attorney and the courts take long strides toward the suppression and punishment of crime when they allow a man's friends to raise the money to square a felony case. said Rosenthal. to raise the money to square a felony

Courier, from which the following extract is taken:

He (Mr. Ben-Ollel) dwells at length that he has never asked for his fee in performing services in this city. We happen to know better. On one occasion he came to this office and complained bitterly that he had not received a $20 fee, and asked us to use our influence to secure this fifthy lucre for him. We refused. He ranted and raved in the wildest, hysterical manner because of that $20 fee. On another occasion when asked to perform the burial service in this city he informed the party requesting it that a fee was expected and, when asked if music could not be had, stated that it was not customary except in church. We never knew before that music was not customary at a funeral if desired, but he received his fee. Again when he baptized a child, he sent a very urgent letter for his fee to the interested parties almost immediately afterwards. Again he was boarded at a very low price for the first month of his stay here and over a $21 bill made a great fuss because he happened to miss two breakfasts and demanded a reduction of 20 cents for the same, besides abusing the lady so that she left the room, and afterwards he sent a very insulting letter to her friends. The 20 cents was sent to him in stamps. The above circumstances we can prove if necessary.

The Outlook for the League Base ball Season.

Arrival of the Manager of the Los Los Angeles Club.

What Capt. Glenalvin Says of His Team and Its Prospects.

The Next Event in Pugilistic Circles-Sala do's Weekly Budget of Horse Gossip -The Question of Records Discussed.

R. J. Glenalvin, manager and captain of the Los Angeles baseball club, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, accompanied by his bride. He came direct from St. Louis and was feeling the effects of the trip, but was chockfull of club and won twenty-two straight es, which broke up the Colorado e League. In 1890 he managed Wheeling, W. Va., club, but was the Wheeling, W. Va.. club, but was sold to Chicago before the end of that season for $1400. He played sixty-six games under Anson, where he had a batting average of .268 and a fielding average of .924. Last year he managed the Portland, Or., team, winning the pennant in the Pacific Northwest League. He is known as "King of the second basemen," and is certainly the League. He is known as "King of the second basemen," and is certainly the best man who ever played that position on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Glenalvin is a quiet, unassuming gentleman, but always has something to say on the subject of baseball, and in conversation with a Times reporter last evening expressed himself in enthus-iastic terms over the outlook for the California League.

"There will be only one better League in the country," said Mr. Glen-alvin, "and that will be the Twelveclub National. The Western is picking up men that are not fast enough for the California League, which goes to show what kind of talent we will have here. I believe that what is needed to revive baseball in this State is better games, and the people will surely have no com-plaints on that score this year. I know the other clubs have all been strengthened, and I hope to see four wellnatched teams.

"I do not say that Los Angeles will win the pennant, but I want you to say to the people here that we are giving them a better club than California ever had before, and we propose to give the northend clubs a hard tussle right from the jump. Roach and Stafford are two of the best pitchers who ever came West and we can have Pitcher Nicoll whenever we want him, despite all gos-sip to the contrary. We have the Cal-ifornia climate to thank for two or three of our best men, who were anxious to spend a season in Los Angeles. I have gathered up a team of first-class ball players who are gentlemen, and now all we want is the proper support on the part of the citizens. Mr. Vanderbeck could not be seen yesterday regarding the report in the San Francisco papers that the Harris schedule would go, whether the Los An-geles man signed it or not, but it can be stated positively that the baby act will not be pleaded at this end of the State. Mr. Vanderbeck is in no sense of the word a "kicker," but he was led to believe that when certain othings were promised Los Angeles on the schedule the committee intended to keep its promise. This is the, whole matter in a nutshell. -

Sacramento is still very sore at Los Angeles in a baseball way. The capi Angeles in a baseball way. The capital city correspondent of the Field Sports roasts the Los Angeles team and says Hulen was not fast enough for League company last year. This may be true, although Hulen has never yet been in League company.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.

The Next Pugilistic Event-The Trotting

Dog "Doc."
The next event in local pugilistic circles will be the fight between George 'Marine," and William Child, the local colored middle-weight. who recently disposed of the former in three rounds, which is set for Thursday, the 24th inst., at the Pastime Club. Child has already commenced training, and evidently means to do his best to get into shape before meeting his oncefamous opponent, who is said to be working at Newhall. It is not improb-able that the "Marine" is considerably underrating his dusky antagonist's talent, and for that reason is not taking any particular pains with his training. However that may be, it would be well for him to remember that it was his over-confidence in himself which caused his downfall a short time ago; and a repetition of such a defeat—which is quite within the bounds of possibility—

d be fatal. Would be fatal.

The famous trotting dog "Doc," owned by Willie Ketchum of Brighton, Ont., has been matched against a pointer known as the "Sagebrush Canine Wonson, Nev. The former has trotted full mile in 8:11, and as yet has never met with a single defeat. The Nevada dog, however, has trotted an eighth of a mile at a 2:21 gait, and the race should prove an event of considerable interest. It is understood that an effort is being made to induce the owners of interest. It is understood that an effort is being made to induce the owners of both animals to visit this city in the

TURF GOSSIP.

The Question of Records.

The Question of Records.

Every State interested in equine string is now agitating the question of tin-cup records, and when the summer kite tracks are open to trotters records will pour in on Secretary Steiner. There are two parties, one upholding these records and the other opposing. In our opinion a horse that track of 2:29%, or better, should not well with their products. This business allowed on the kite-shape track for a record. A horse that needs perhaps wars of preparation, and is then only at to come and trot all by himself, such a horse, especially if a stallion, is not wanted in the country. A mare is very different; if she can trot in 2:30 she has some strains, worthy of propagation.

Well with their products. This business will keep on increasing every year as the quality of our vegetables becomes better known and the growers realize how great a market is open for their products. The shipment of strawberries will begin now very soon and there will be a large crop of them."

California Immigrant Rates.—"Some

Another question that is agitating the horsemen all over the country is the pacing qualification for registration. It seems to us that if we are to be guided by a horse's marked value that the rule by a norse's marked value that the rule now in force favors the pacer. A trotting stallion that has a record of 2:30 is far more valuable than a pacer that has a record of 2:25. It seems that a pacing record of 2:20 is equal to that of a tratter in 2:20. of a trotter in 2:30.

from St. Louis and was teeing the effects of the trip, but was chockfull of baseball talk.

Mr. Glenalvin enjoys the reputation of being one of the cest and most successful minor league managers in the United States, and no ball-player is more widely known than he. He was born in Indianapolis, Ind., January 17, 1868, and began professional work with Lincoln, Neb., in 1887. In 1888 he managed the Colorado Springs the town, where a beautiful regulation mile track has almost been completed. Spacious stalls will be built and all that goes to the comfort and protection of the noble horse will be studiously looked after. This adds another public track to the southern district. E. B. Hill of Lompoc, Santa Barbara county, says that he has the handsomest county, says that he has the handsomest and speediest yearling in Southern California. If breeding has anything to do with beauty and speed Mr. Hill has a grand colt. He is by the world-renowned sire of early speed, Sidney, sire of the two sensational yearlings of 1891—Fausta, 2:22%, and Frou-Frou, 2:25%. The dam of the colt is Lady

Tiffany, by Gibraltar, sire of Home-stake, 2:14%. The Breeder and Sportsman advocates the reinstatement of B. C. Holly. Let us then see that Pete Doyle, ruled off at Los Angeles last fall, be rein-stated. Wealth should cut no figure in such cases.

If the stallion Wilkes-Moor, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15 ¼, dam by Del Sur, 2:24, does not trot in the 2:20 this season it will be because his trainer, Henry De laney, does not want to push him too hard the first year. Henry is a conscientious, active and most reliable young trainer, and when such qualities are found in a trainer he should be appreciated. He is doing excellent work with his string of trotters on the Hueneme track.

will L. J. Rose, Esq., of Rosemeade, return to the trotter? There is not a trotting man in America but that would feel that his return to the trotter meant a great assistance for the advancement of breeding trotters.

H. W. Lawrence of Santa Barbara has a large bay stallion, Rucker, by Bashaw, by Wapsie, he by the great Bashaw (50.) dam by Dexter Prince, by Budd Doble. Rucker when only b years old was the sire of Emory (2 years,) 2:52 in a race. It pays to breed to producers.

E. Sherman of Santa Barbara has C. E. Sherman or Santa Barbara has a beautiful colt out of the dam Midnight, by Accident. The dam is by Newry, he by Lexington. Newry is also the sire of the trotter, Maggle F., 2:26. Accident is by Monday, he by Colton, son of Lexington. The colt is a beauty.

It is much to be regretted that so lively and busy a town as Santa Paula, Ventura county, has no mile regulation track on which good meetings could be held. If James Mack will interest himself in the matter the thing could be consummated.

California Immigrant Rates.—"Some recent dispatches regarding the Santa Fé's proposed reduction of second class passenger rates to California were wrong in one respect," said Ceneral Passenger Agent Hynes; "the fact is the Santa Fé does not pay the high commissions to agents and scalpers, but has refused to do so, though competitors sought authority to pay them to secure business. The Santa Fé proposed, instead of paying the big commissions to agents and others, to reduce the fare by that amount, which would be to the advantage of the passengers. HAVE YOU THE GRIP?

Many People Have It and Do Not Know It. How to Recognize the Sympto How to Treat Them.

How to Treat Them.

Hundreds of people have the grippe who do not know it. Not necessarily the final stages, but the first stages. They feel pains in the head, and a bad taste in the mouth, get tired and despondent, have chilly sensations, limbs and muscles ache. In some cases these things are overlooked. In most cases, perhaps, they are considered simply a slight cold. In nearly every case they indicate the coming of grippe.

There is but one thing to do when these There is but one thing to do when these symptoms appear, and that is to take prompt and vigorous measures to fortify nature to repel the enemy. A little well-directed effort at just the right time will accomplish very much more than labored effort afterward. There is but one thing to be done, and that is to use a pure stimulant, something that will promptly arrest, and in no way injure, something indorsed by scientists, recommended by physicians, and popular because so efficient—Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. Two years ago, and last year when the grippe was raging, this was the standard remedy used, and recommended by the profession. It did more to prevent the grippe than all other known or recommended remedies. It preserved many people in health who would otherwise have been grievously sick, perhaps even worse. It is as efficient today as ever. It should be borne in mind that other so called whiskies may not be schiclent, and if any dealer asserts that such condicion, and if any dealer asserts that such whiskies are the same, distrust him at once. There is but one medicinal whisky, and that is Duffy's Pure Malt.

HOTEL SAN GABRIEL NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Mason and family of Boston are stopping at the hotel for a few weeks.

George H. Russell, a prominent banker of Detroit, was up from Coronado Thursday and took lunch at the San Gabriel.

E. C. Van Husan, a prominent real estate man of Detroit, who has been at the hotel for a week or two, leaves this morning with his wife for Coronado Hotel. They will be much missed by their many friends at the house.

Mrs. J. W. Welsh, Mrs. H. Beech and liss E. G. Wildes of Boston arrived from Riverside Thursday. C. C. Bowen and wife of Detroit, and Mrs.

Carpenter and Miss Adams, of the same city, have taken rooms here. This is Mr and Mrs. Bowen's third winter at San Ga briel.

George H. Nettleton, president of the Kansas City, Memphis, Fort Scott and Gulf Railroad, who is touring the State in his private car, accompanied by a party of friends, lunched at the hotel Saturday.

The hotel is crowded at present and has been compelled to disappoint many who desired rooms the past week. This beautiful family home is fast growing in popularity, and will never have rooms enough again through the winter season.

Pride in one's county, State or city is al Pride in one's county, State or city is al-ways justifiable. Rightly was the coronet placed upon the brow of our "Grown City," fairest of all the daughters of this Golden State. Proudly thou rearest thy crest above the m all, as they pour forth their treasures into the lap of thy twin city of the Angels. Thy sovereignty is one of beauty. So let the flower-wreathed cannon from the golden fort of the Bay City salute thee; the date and palm, which rest under thy shadow, do thee homage; the grandest citrus belt of this country hold aloft to thee its magnificent emblems of lime and orange. The jewels which set thy crown orange. The jewels which set thy crown are fruits of amber and gold, unrivaled on orange. The jewels which set thy crown are fruits of amber and gold, unrivaled on the whole earth---the like possessed by thy sisters in larger numbers who have reared of them fairy temples and pavilions, formed pyramids and cones, illustrated traffic by rail in outline of gold or "commerce" by sea, with a boat of rich treasures ready to launch, with a bountiful "horn of plenty" left behind.

As our State shines forth at the great exposition of 1893 may to her be the scepter awarded, not only for what she has, but for future possibilities! May the Government take knowledge of us accordingly, and come to our rescue. Our defenses are as useless as the fanciful creations at the citrus display, and in case of war we could only do as the "Goddess of Plenty" at the fair—hold aloft the olive branch. As labor and capital pour in upon us the unredeemed lands will, by irrigation, be made to "bud and blossom as the rose," and this most sun-blessed and fruitful country will, in the near future, be a land flowing with oil and wine, milk and honey.

THEY LIKE A FREE SHOW.

The liberality of the Pasadena baseball loving public was expressed at Saturday's game to the tune of less than $10, a third game to the tune of less than $10, a third of which was collected from the grand stand. No admission fee to the grounds was charged, the management trusting to the generosity of the spectators to help to defray the necessary expenses in the way of moving the grand stand, building the backstop, etc., which amounted to over $50. The reporter watched the gentleman who was delegated to pass the hat, and noticed that about one man in a dozen condescended to drop a nickel in the slot. This is but a repetition of the close-fisted action that etition of the close-fisted action that characterized those who attended the Athletic Club field sports at the opening of the grounds. It is a painful fact to chronicle that Pasadena contains so many utterly mean people, but it is a fact just the same. Had each of the several hundred spectators present at Saturday's game contributed so much as 10 cents the management would have felt amply compensated for their labor and expense. The games, however, will go on just the same, and it is to be hoped that those who attend will do better hereafter in the way of cash contributions.

SAN BERNARDINO [Branch office at Stewart Hotel news stand. where news, advertisements and orders for THE TIMES are received.]

As was generally expected, San Bernar-dino county carried off the first prize at the citrus fair. This is what the people looked for, for this county is the banner citrus county of the State, and, notwithstanding wind and frost, there is much fruit this season as fine as ever tickled the palate of the connoisseur. Besides the old orange-growing centers of Riverside, Old San Bernardino and Colton, there are many newer places demanding recognition as great orange-growing sections, such as Redlands, Highland, Ontario, South River. sive, Rialto, etc. With these communities to reinforce those of long standing, and even hasking a strong fight for first place respecting quality and appearance, there can be little doubt about the ability of the county to retain its position as the bar county of the State as a citrus county.

GOLD EXCITEMENT.

Herman Bernhardt, Herman Rene and Emil Hellman have just come in from prospecting in the region of Cottonwood Springs, bringing with them about $1000 worth of gold, which they say they got from a new ledge with but a few minutes' work. These three prospectors have been out but a few weeks, and as soon as they discovered the ledge and extracted the above sum proceeded to stake off their ciaims, one for each of them, and then came in to make their filings and dispose of the gold nuggets they obtained. One of these nuggets weighs almost two ounces, having small fragments of quartz adhering, weighing, perhaps, one-fourth of an ounce. This was purchased of the miners yesterday by August Weinman for $25, and it and other specimens examined by The TIMES correspondent. The ledge is reported to be from two inches to two feet in thickness and extends along the mountains for a distance of about two miles. The location is about 150 miles east of here by wagon road and twenty-two miles north of Cottonwood Springs on the slope of the San Bernardino Mountain. The metal is in the form of flakes, threads and nuggets, imbedded in red, white and brown honeycomb quartz.

The lucky prospectors will return at once with tools and provisions and proceed to work their claims.

R. H. Kendall, night watchman, heard the explosion, ran up to the window, looked in, and sife two burglars. He yelled at them, and they shot at him three or four times. One bullet struck him a glancing blow at the base of the skull and felled him to the ground, but did not injure him seriously. Kendall emptied his revoiver at the men through the window. Several other parties came up, attracted by the noise. The two burglars ran away. One had a heavy black moustache, weighed about 130 or 140 pounds. A kit of burglars' tools and glant powder were found under a pile of lumber in the morning. Nothing had been placed in the safe yet, which was a new one, and had not been opened, as the railroad agent had not yet received the combination.

The Santa Fé just got a new safe the middle of last week, but had not put the books and money into it. This was the one blown open, so the robbers got nothing. The old safe, containing all the valuables, stood beside it untouched. The criminals have not yet been apprehended.

SANTA ANA.

[Branch office at No.206 West Fourth street, where subscriptions and advertisements are taken.] It is reported that the owners of the San Joaquin ranch are prospecting for a suitable place to put in a submerged dam in the Santiago Creek. The object of the enterprise is to furnish water for the thousands of acres of ranch land that are now being used for barley and corn. The development of water on this ranch, and the velopment of water on this ranch, and its subdivision, are measures of the greatest interest to every resident of the county. It is reported that the stockholders of the Santiago Water Company regard the movement of the San Joaquin ranch owners, in developing water in the Santiago Cañon, with some apprehension, but it is believed that they will not interfere, at least so long as their rights are not interfered with.

At first thought it is seemingly a broad assertion to say that Orange county has far more variety in soil and climate than is found in an area in the East many times as arge. A. Johnston of Alhambra stated that the residents of that place objected to the location of the saloon, as it was within two blocks of the schoolhouse and the children had to pass it several times every day.

Supervisor Dayis said he did not think the board could act on any of the applications against which protests had been signed by the necessary number of protestants until the old ordinance had been repealed, and this could not be done before the 19th inst.

Attorney Gage said he recognized the force of this argument, and signified his willingness to allow the matter to go over until that date, but asked that further protests be allowed filed

After some further discussion it was announced that Garibalbi was perfectly willing to change the location of his saloon, and the whole matter was thereupon continued for one week.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

FEMALE BASEBALL NINE.

Scheme Knocked in the Head by the Authorities.

nly Girls Between the Ages of Fourtee and Sixteen Years Wanted by the Management-A Queer Outfit.

Several seasons ago two or three female baseball teams were organized in the East, and for a time the new fad seemed to take, but as girls are not .intended by nature for baseball playing the craze has about died out.

It seems that the craze has been re vived in this city, for the police were notified last Saturday that John Doyle, late manager of the Main street dime nuseum, was organizing a female baseball team to play the Coast cities.

From the report made to the police by the landlady of the old Rose Block on North Main street the authorities thought it of sufficient importance for an investigation and the matter was placed in the hands of Humane Officer Wright, who promptly called at the Rose Block

The landlady briefly informed him that one of the girls named Nellie Sey-moure, who is 16 years of age, with her little fourteen-year-old sister Maude had been engaged to go with the outfit.

Nellie was brought out, and on being questioned by Officer Wright she stated that she had called on Doyle at his lodging-house and he told her that he was organizing a baseball company to travel-all over the Coast. Dovle stated that the girls must be over 14 and un-der 16 years of age, and that they would not be engaged unless they were thoroughly developed and in perfect health

She was given to understand that they would receive a salary of $30 a month and all expenses, and would not have to play ball oftener than once a week He also informed her that he had en-gaged all but two, and that their first game would be at Agricultural Park today, after which they would go straight to Portland, Or., when the season would

Officer Wright was unable to find any of the girls except the Seymoure sisters and a young girl named Lillie Gray, who lives in the Well Block. She tells the same story, and seems at a loss to know exactly what she is expected to do. The managers of this fake, whatever it is, have worked the employment of fices, and one of the offices on Second street had on its bulletin board last Saturday, "Three girls to play baseball, wanted; salary, $90 a month apiece."

When Officer Wright called on the firm and questioned them they in-formed him that they did not propose to furnish any girls, but they adver-tised for the girls for the reason that they did not wish to make enemies of the managers, who have considerable in-fluence around town.

They took the sign down at once, and, as all the girls that have been seen by Officer Wright have agreed not to join the company, it is believed by the authorities that the female baseball team will not be organized.

The Historical Society. The Historical Society of Southern California will hold its regular monthly meeting this (Monday) evening at 7:80 o'clock in Caledonian Hall, No. 119% South Spring street. Ex-Senator Cornelius Cole will give an address on his "Trip Across the Plains to California in '49." Special invitations have been sent to Col. J. J. Warner, Don Pio Pico and other old settlers and pioneers to be present.

The exercises will be specially interesting to all who are interested in California history. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in that subject. The society has moved its library and collections into its rooms in the new Courthouse, and is preparing for more active and extended collection of historical matter

After suffering for years with stomach trouble I was at last induced to try Dr. Wong Him, of No. 639 Upper Main street. Los Angeles. He examined me and pronounced my trouble tumor in the stomach. After two months treatment, during which time I felt greatly relieved and, benefited, he pronounced me entirely cufed; and from that time to the present, which is four months, I have not felt the least return of my old trouble. I am able to eat many things which formerly would distress me very much. Therefore I feel that I can do nothing else than to recommend the doctor to all who can be induced to the limit of the limit of the last forms services forme.

Parisian People's Store!

March 7, 1892.

The past week brought us the best values in merchandise that it has been our good fortune to ever place before this public. We assure you that the merchandise that we place before you during the coming week can never again be matched at the prices that we shall name for them.

Dress Goods.

We have the pleasure to announce the purchase of a case of Bedford Cords, in all known colors, 44-inch wide, the most munificent value that we have ever been able to offer at

50c. The handsomest line of 36-inch Allwool French Challies, manufactured by Scheuer, Rott & Cie. A material similar, but of much inferior quality, is shown in town as a special bargain at 60c. This quality has never sold under 75c. Our price will be 49c.

54-inch All-wool Plaids, Checks, shot effects, 1% yards wide and all wool. Goods that are remarkably cheap at 85c will be offered at 49c.

The greatest value in our list of Dress Goods is a line of Al.-wool Hen-riettas, Surah Serges and other Dress Fabrics, which we marked in before we had the invoice, and once in stock they

We commend your at-tention to this line of Silks as they are an exceptional value at

If you pick up the New York Herald, the World, THE TIMES, the Evening Express, or any of the leading newspapers, you will find the large dry goods stores devoting the major space of their advertisements to Silk Fabrics, showing that they are much in vogue and are being worn. We have been informed that one firm alone employs thirty-five men in selling Silk Effects. We desire to call your attention to our Silk Velvet and Plush stock. We will place on sale Monday and as long as they last two cases of Amoskeag A. F. C. Dress Ginghams in all the newest and plaids. This is one of the finest Ginghams manufactured in America.

Ginghams manufactured in America. It is more often sold for a Scotch Ging-ham than for an American. It is 32 inches wide, of the finest texture, and it retails generally all over the country at from 17% to 20c per yard. Come early Monday morning and secure your 12 1-2c.

We shall place on sale Monday two cases of Shirting Checks, Stripes and Plaids, in blues and browns, in all the different styles and widths—goods that were made and intended to be sold by us at 10c per yard; they were lost in transportation and did not show up for four months. They have come to hand a little too late for the purpose intended by us, and we will place them on sale at We will sell a case of American Shirt-we will sell a case of American Shirting Prints, as good a quality of Shirting Prints as is made, and the price of these goods is 4 1/4 c per yard at the mill, and they retail generally at 6 1/4 c. Our price, 4c. Call your attention to a case of Fast of Scotch Flannels; are guaranteed to be the genuine Scotchman. These goods cost over 50c'to import. They are worth 75c per yard. 35c.

We received last week 100 pieces of Point d'Ireland Laces, which beyond doubt, for value, are the cheapest that doubt, for value, are the cheapest that ever were shown. We have received a sample line upon which import orders were taken—no two pieces alike. We have marked them from 8 ½c to 50c per yard, and the goods are worth all the way from 20c to $1.50.

A line of short-length pieces of Embroidery ranging from 2-yard to 18-yard lengths. We purchased these goods at about one-fourth their value, and we have placed them on sale at prices ranging from 5c to 25c per yard, for goods that are worth from 10c to 75c. We will not cut any piece under

75c. We will not cut any piece under 9 yards, as the price marked is so much under the market value that we ceived a large invoice of Plated Ware, Spoons, Knives, Forks of all kinds, Kitchen Knives and Forks, Pen Knives, Scissors, Crockery, Glassware, etc. Space prevests mentioning prices, but as we expect to move our stock into our new salesroom, adjoining our present stores, entrance where our Corset Department is, you can be assured our prices are low for the quality we show. There is not a better bargain in town than the line of Boy's Suits which we display in our window and which we are running in our store at a special sale—goods that are worth $3.50 and

We offer you the Best White Laundried Shirt that was ever made for the money. We have three qualities of them displayed in our show window, and we guarantee that for quality there is not a shirt in this town within 25c of the price that will equal it

50c, 75c, 98c. Three lines of Men's Neckwear in Tecks, Windsors and Four-in-hands, qualities worth a great deal more money—we are increasing the sales in neckwear by reason of these prices—
